Balancing The War Effort

Washington's effort to strike a balance on the Pacific war effort affects nearly every sector of the national economy at home as well as the conduct of the war itself.

A Washington correspondent reports a story that Secretary of Interior Ickes asked a War department official if the army needed more coal next winter. Receiving an affirmative answer, he told the official the only way the army could get more coal would be to dig it; i.e., release enough coal miners to increase production. The War department official thereupon told Mr. Ickes if he wanted to win the war in a hurry that coal miners would have to be used as troops.

The question does not concern merely coal miners, but railroad men, shipyard workers, foundrymen, tire makers, textile workers and many others. It is a question of what the armed services need and what they can spare. It deals not only with numbers of men, but types. It deals also with materials and equipment. No nation ever tried so complicated a rebalancing before. One total war involving the energies and welfare of the whole nation has been fought to a successful climax, while another has been brought to a point of decision. The latter now must reach an equally successful climax, something that can be done only by manipulating the complex details of life in a nation of 135,000,000 people.

Only the United States would dare attempt it. There will be a thousand places that will seem to justify criticism, and criticism should be forthcoming. But along with it should be forthcoming, also, comprehension of the tremendous project being tackled as calmly as if completion of two major wars within the same year—or perhaps a few months more—had become an everyday occurrence in the United States.

It Would Be Preposterous

One of the quieter, tenser speculations going on about the possible effects of Clement R. Attlee's surge to the top in British politics is the identity of His Majesty's next ambassador to Washington. It seems unlikely that Viscount Halifax will be acceptable to Ernest Bevin, new secretary of state in the Attlee cabinet.

The British socialist bloc could afford to consider George Bernard Shaw, the well known Irishman. Socialism has been his political meat; he is one of the spiritual leaders of the Fabian movement which a majority of Britons have just played on the second bounce. Mr. Shaw would have the great advantage of being more famous in the United States than he is at home. He would be a celebrity.

The American press would bedevil him into a glowing frenzy of excitement over seeing his name and views in print. He could be garrulous, rude, witty, provocative, sly, and in all ways Shavian till his clipping book did runneth over. It would be preposterous, but it would be a nice gesture to an old gentleman and it would keep Americans so busy they might forget to be nosy about the progress of socialism.

Unfinished Business

A rumor that the huge cave at Atchison, Kan., which War Food administration was planning to use for an underground refrigerator may be abandoned revives a suspicion that the starting of unfinished business is one of government's overworked privileges.

The Atchison cave, it is said, represents a government investment of $2,000,000, representing the cost of the refrigerating equipment whose installation was completed before WFA began to think about abandoning the project. Two million dollars, of course, is only a drop in the bucket compared to the cost of other seven, eight and nine-figure projects started and dropped.

Not all the unfinished business has involved public money. One thinks of the constitutional amendment to change the rules on the Senate's ratification of treaties; of a proposal to draft nurses for military service; of a proposal for compulsory, universal service. One thinks of investigations started and never finished, reports begun and never delivered, political promises made and never kept—and, ultimately, one gets the idea that the unfinished business may tell more about a country than its finished business.

The Nub of The Issue

Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt's decision to include in a public statement about his recently publicized financial affairs a claim that his late father was in no way involved gets at the nub of the general question raised.

Every member of a chief executive's family is affected in some way by the position of the family's head; hence, the widely accepted idea that each member is under an unwritten obligation to recognize this situation lest the head of the family be embarrassed by implications of undue influence.

During the long tenure of office enjoyed by Mr. Roosevelt, members of his family were not all inclined to recognize their obligation to make the least of their position, rather than the most. Gen. Roosevelt may believe he was in no way affected by his father's position, but his contention to that effect strains the credulity of those who believe the contrary.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, August 4.

LUNAR transits operative on this day show important advancement, with much personal gratification, in both business and private objectives, provided sound judgment, due restraints, in lures to indulgence, excess, extravagance and overacting or show. Also, there is a sign of meeting with designing, suspicious or weird persons with strange ideas or propositions. Shun all intrigues or glamorous entanglements, or baits.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of fair progress and much personal happiness and satisfaction if they will maintain a safe and sound position, by sound judgment, practical ideas and purposes, not built upon illusion, delusion, glamor or intrigue. Strange contacts are possible, with lures to schemes, plots and illicit propositions. Also, a proclivity to excess, indulgence, show and general extravagance—of funds, energies and effort. With moderation and reason, there should be gratification.

A child born on this day should have a personality with ability and prestige to put over worthwhile programs, if it shun excess and extravagance and also keep alert to frauds, freaks and strange entanglements.

Protection, Not Possession

When President Truman said, at a flag-raising in Germany, that "there is not a piece of territory that we want out of the war," he apparently was making an impromptu statement. It is doubtful that he had calculated the effect his obviously sincere but unpremeditated pronouncement would have.

However, his words were inevitably examined with great care as a forecast of future policy. And among those who took a special interest in them were members of our armed forces in the Pacific.

Roy W. Howard reports from the Pacific theater that many men have taken issue with their Commander-in-Chief in this matter. Mr. Howard finds them disinclined to give up territory won at such cost, almost before the concrete of their new air strips has hardened or the paint has dried on the white crosses above the graves of comrades who gave their lives to wrest the islands from the Japs.

Their attitude is reasonable, and it is not impossible that Mr. Truman might find it so. The President simply seems to have been repeating Woodrow Wilson's denial of imperialistic intentions.

At the same time he is probably as conscious as anyone that the Wilson statement, though popular and well-intentioned, set a course which contributed to the failure of enduring peace and the future of this country to be prepared when war returned.

We know now that, as the world's greatest power, we must assume great responsibility for preserving peace. Ours and the world's welfare are inseparable. Our responsibility is not finished when we join a world league for peace. We must be strong, vigilant and well protected.

That involves practical considerations, including the disposition of the strategic Pacific islands that Japan held before the war. Someone must be given charge of them. And there are several reasons why we should do the job, rather than an international trusteeship.

We have won a claim to those islands through blood and battle. They are vital outposts of our defense, as the early history of the Pacific war unhappily proved. Further, we have shown in recent years—particularly in the Philippines—that we are not imperialists or "colonists" in the usual sense. We do not suppress or exploit our outlying territories.

To protect ourselves and world peace today requires active, widespread watchfulness as well as good intentions. We can stay close to home and be high-minded, but not world-minded.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Care of Chronic Invalids

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THE problem of caring for patients who are chronically ill, that is, who are suffering from a prolonged illness, is directly associated with the problem of caring for older people because so-called chronic invalidism in eight out of ten persons occurs in people after the age of thirty-five. It occurs in only one out of every twenty before the age of fourteen.

It has been noted that we are rapidly becoming a nation of elders. That is there are far more older people in the population than there were in former years. In 1900 about 17 per cent of the total population of the United States were forty-five years old or more, while in 1940, 26 1/2 per cent exceeded forty-five years of age.

Adjustment to Age

According to Doctor Herman L. Kretschmer, president of the American Medical Association, the physician has an important part in adjusting the aging people to their changing abilities. He is called on to treat larger numbers of patients who are suffering from disorders of the advanced years of life.

The first consideration in regard to the problem of these chronically ill persons is the establishment of methods for the prevention of chronic ailments. This should begin early in life with proper personal hygiene, right living and suitable diet. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the importance of a regular physical examination by the doctor at least once a year. This often brings to light infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses and elsewhere in the body which may be factors in the production of such disorders as arthritis, inflammation of the joints and high blood pressure. The clearing up of these infections may be an important factor in the prevention of these disorders.

Doctor Kretschmer also points out that the family has an important place in taking care of the chronically ill patient. So often the patient's invalidism is created or made worse by the attitude of his family and friends. In their sympathy for the patient, they over-protect and shelter him so that his spirit as well as his body is crippled, and he does not have the desire to be up and about.

Industrial Workers

Those in industry also must have a part in this problem. Elderly workers must be given a job which fits their abilities. At the same time, it is important that they continue to work so that they may be able to retain their self-respect in the knowledge that they are producers.

Plans are being made for establishing institutions to care for the chronically ill and, as a part of the treatment in these institutions, steps should be taken to restore independence and self-reliance as rapidly as possible. It may be expected that the medical profession will join in meeting this problem of the chronically ill as they have in solving other important problems relating to health.

Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column. Address your inquiries to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Brenda — Will You Step Out With Me Tonight?

I know I've been an awful grouch not taking you any place lately. But after standing all day at my new job, my feet darn near killed me with callouses and burning. Now I've reformed — or rather my feet have — thanks to the medicinal Ice-Mint you advised. Never tried anything that seemed to draw the pain and fire right out so fast — and the way it helps soften callouses is nobody's business! Been able to get some extra overtime money — so what do you say, let's go dancing tonight. You can step on my Ice-Mint feet all you want.

GOVERNOR ORDERS GAMBLING CLEAN-UP

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—In a drive to clean up slot machines and other forms of gambling in Ohio, Gov. Frank J. Lausche has ordered Liquor Director Robert M. Schengen to insist on revocation of licenses to permit holders convicted of allowing gambling in their establishments.

The governor yesterday urged an investigation of conditions in Ottawa, Lake, Geauga and Portage counties and at Chesapeake in Lawrence county, where he said slot machines have appeared.

In Huntington, W. Va., across the Ohio river from Chesapeake, the Herald-Dispatch last night quoted Gov. Lausche as saying a "commercial gambling den" at Chesapeake "must close and remain closed."

The paper quoted the governor that a "tavern supposedly operating legitimately is in fact the operator of a gambling den about 200 feet away."

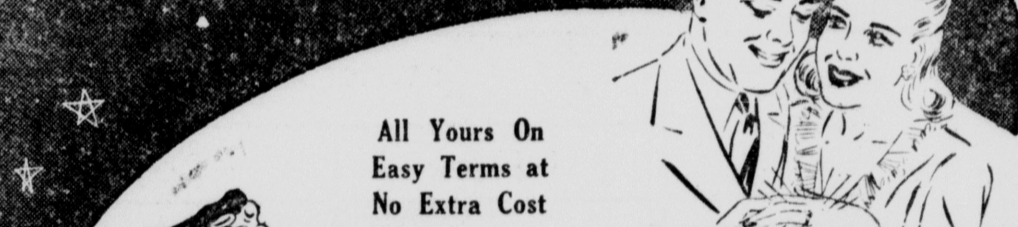

At the beginning of 1944, there were 9,330,000 head of horses on American farms, as compared to 9,675,000 the preceding year.

NEW INSECTICIDE UPS POTATO YIELD

(By Associated Press)
WOOSTER, Aug. 3.—Approximately two million bushels of potatoes will be added to Ohio's production in the future through use of the new insecticide, DDT, the Ohio agricultural experiment station declares.

The station, part of the extension division of Ohio State university, today made public for the first time results of experiments in which DDT was tested with other insecticides, as growers from all sections of Ohio gathered here for the annual potato day.

J. D. Wilson and J. P. Slesman, station experimentalists, estimated that DDT, if used universally in the state, would produce a 20 per cent increase in yield over other insecticides.

The station used 50 plots in testing the strength of DDT against bordeaux mixture and live other fungicides. Station officials reported best results were obtained from using DDT with bordeaux. They recommended mixing one-half to three-quarters of a pound of DDT with 100 gallons of water.

Wilson and Slesman said DDT particularly was effective in combatting "leaf hoppers" and "reasonably would control aphids and leaf beetles."

Station officials termed DDT the "greatest discovery in potato culture since bordeaux mixture first was used in the 1880's," and added they expected a supply of the insecticide would be available commercially next year.

POLES TO GOVERN PORT OF STETTIN

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 3.—A British foreign office commentator said today the great German shipbuilding center of Stettin would come under Polish administration in the extension of Poland's western frontiers by the Potsdam conference.

The communique issued by the Big Three said the western boundary line for Poland would run immediately west of Swinemunde from the Baltic sea, thence along the Oder river to the confluence of the western Nause river. This would put Stettin, on the west side of the Oder, in Germany.

The commentator explained, however, that it had been decided that the Poles would administer the city, which they call by the Polish name of Szczecin.

It's funny how time can fool you...
Looking backward, ten years doesn't seem so long.
But looking ahead—ten years seems like an eternity. And that's the reason why many people never save money...

Looking backward, they wish—oh, how they wish!—they'd started saving ten years ago. Looking ahead, ten years of saving seems like such a long, tiresome program that they never get started.

Look at this!

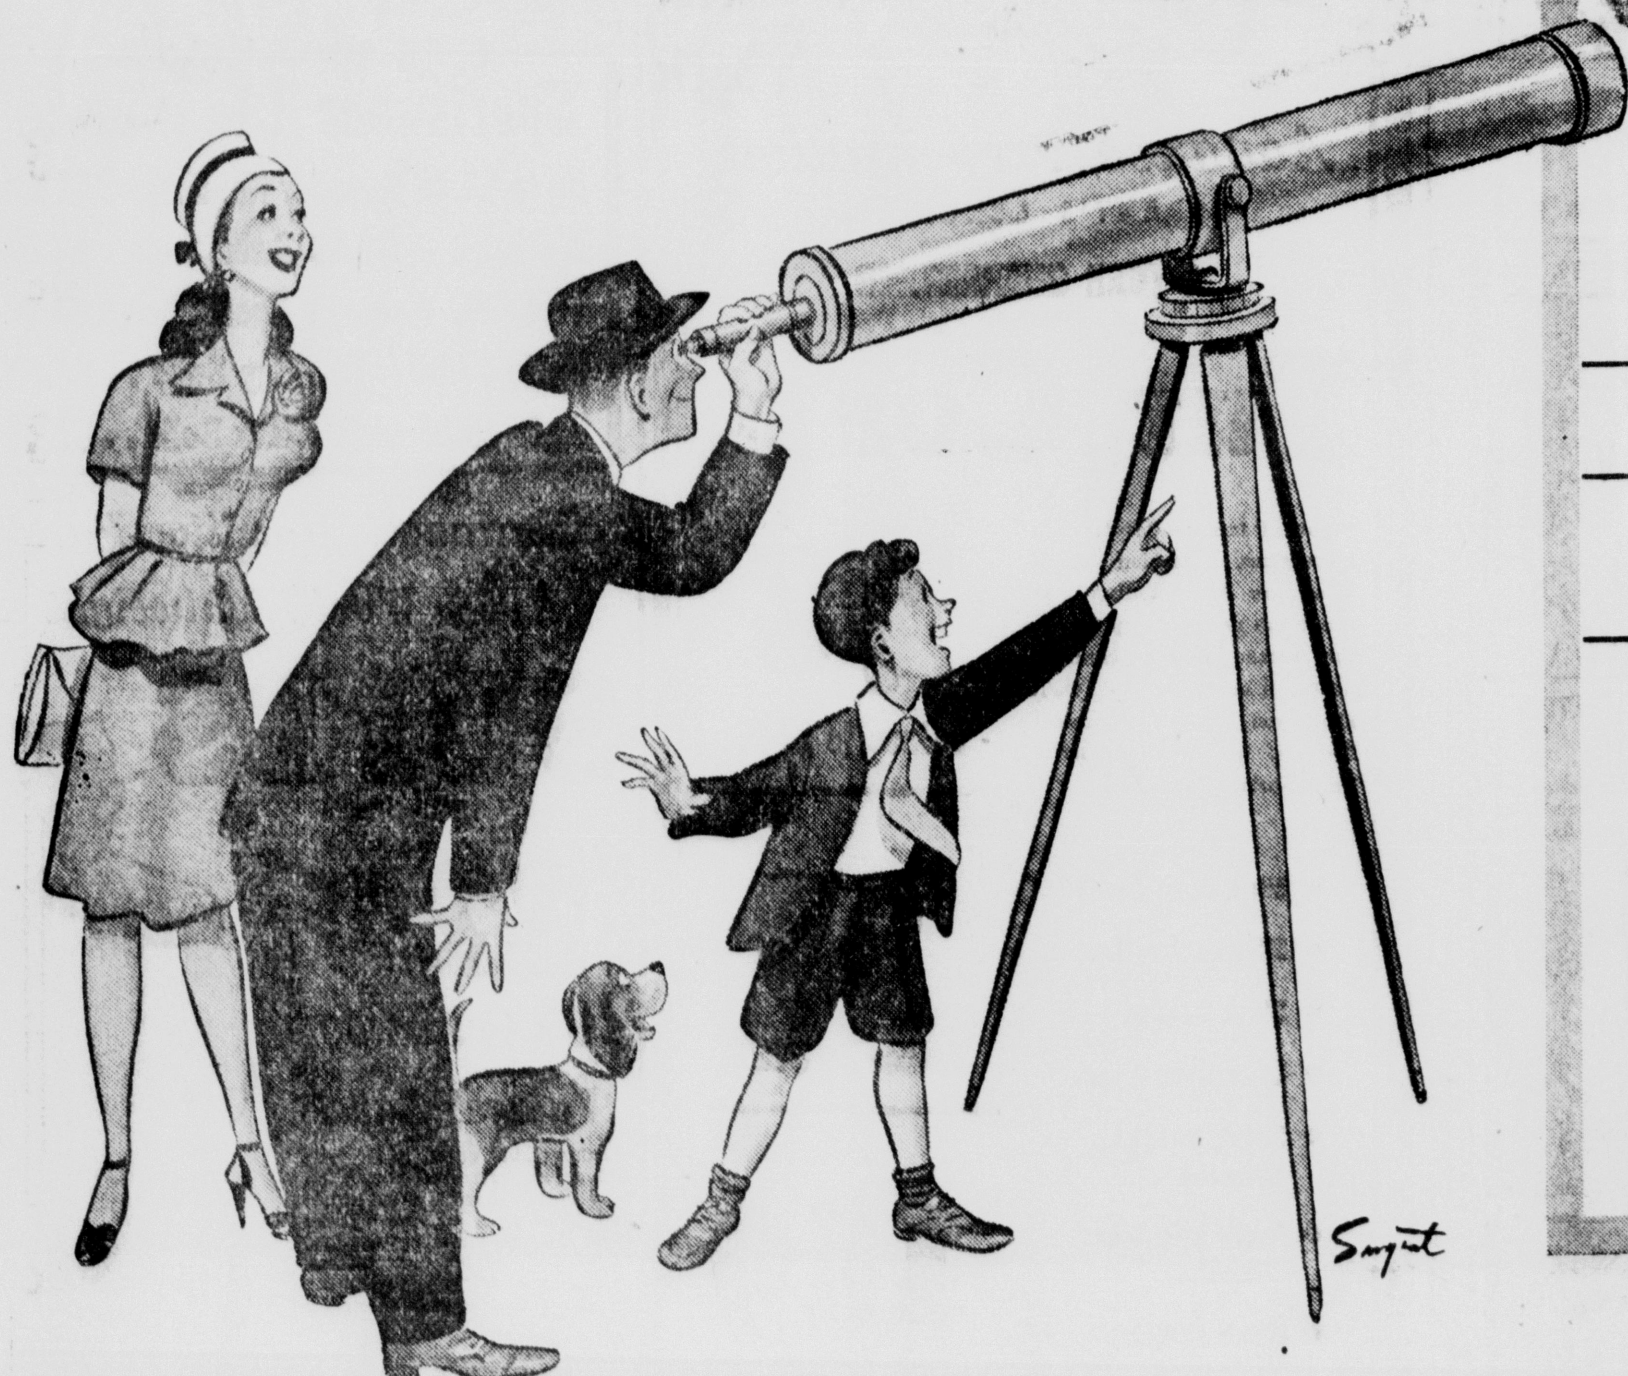

Suppose you had been able to start just ten years ago to put only $3.75 each week in United States Government "Series E" Bonds.

Today—right now!—your Bonds would be worth $2,163.45. A tidy sum!

Well—why not start a savings program like that? Why not make the next ten years work for you—the ten years that seem so long now, but that will seem so short, come 1955?

There's a War Bond Timetable on this page. It shows how regular savings of certain weekly sums accumulate—principal and interest.

Set your goal. Then keep on buying and holding War Bonds until you reach your objective.
Some day you'll say, "It was the smartest thing I ever did!"

This is what happens when you pay $75 for a $100 Series E Bond

After 2 years it's worth.....	$76.50
After 4 years it's worth.....	$80.00
After 6 years it's worth.....	$84.00
After 8 years it's worth.....	$92.00
In 10 years it's worth.....	$100.00

And—if you save regularly each week this is what will happen:

RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
BOARD ADMIRAL McCAIN'S SHIP OFF JAPAN — Notes from a carrier.
B-29s frequently in sight of task force on their way back to bases after bombing. They have been flying over like tourists but the novelty of having them off the men of the task force.

John I. Masters of Los Angeles, night landing signal officer of the carrier, has a Japanese eight-pointed star medal for a souvenir he had to get it on the second day.
It happened while Masters was at Okinawa recently.
"I thought I'd take some pictures," he related. "So I wandered from the camp near Yontan to a little Jap soldier, all grinning and holding his hands up. I was taking no chances. I had a camera so I nodded in the direction of the camp. This little Jap took off like a ruptured balloon, still holding his hands up. I got to camp the Seabees and I saw a Seabee came up to me and I wanted a souvenir. He gave me this medal. Masters picked up a beautifully lacquered wooden box which was a silver star on a dark orange ribbon.
"Is a dandy, isn't it? And it came plenty in trade, but I wonder that guy got it from my Jap?" he mused.

Fichter Pleads For Labor To Save Ohio Crops This Season

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—Joseph W. Fichter, master of the Ohio State drainage, asserted today "further drainage of necessary farm labor from the farm should be stopped at once so the crops can be harvested."

Fichter, speaking at a district meeting of county grange deputies, said that because of a shortage of farm labor the number of acres planted in crops this year is seven per cent under 1944.

Referring to the "terrifying possibilities of food shortages in Europe this winter," Fichter said:

"I urge every one of the local granges in the state to respond to the request of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to preserve every ounce of surplus fruits and vegetables."
"Farmers will respond to the need of feeding starving Europe as they have responded to appeals for increased food production for the last three or four years," he continued.
"But there is a limit to the farmer's strength and endurance and there is a limit to his patience."
"He is growing tired of hearing one government agency ask for increased production while at the same time some other government agency throws obstacles in his way by making it difficult for him to get supplies, by setting up unworkable price arrangements and by taking necessary and essential farm workers from the farm."

Your GI Rights

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON—Here are some general questions from GIs and relatives on the rights of veterans:

Q. Last year my husband died. This left me all alone with my son in the Army. My health was bad and there was practically no money left from my husband's estate so I requested that my son be discharged to help me. He was. Since then my health has improved and I am able to work and want my son to start college. I wonder now, if the circumstances of his discharge will disqualify him from getting the education benefits provided in the GI Bill of Rights?

A. If he meets the other qualifications, the fact that he was discharged to help you makes no difference. He will be eligible for all GI rights.

Q. What is the six months' death gratuity?

A. It is a lump-sum payment equal to six months' pay (but not allowances) at the rate received by the person at the date of death. It is payable in the case of death of an officer, enlisted person, or nurse in any of the armed services of the U. S. provided that the death was not the result of misconduct.

Q. I just got out of the Coast Guard. I would like to clear the mortgage on my house. Can I get a loan guarantee to retire this mortgage?

A. Not unless the existing mortgage has matured and is in default.

Q. My husband got out of the service almost a month ago. He isn't interested in keeping up his Government insurance, but I want to keep up the payments. Where do I send them?

A. Send the money to the Collections Subdivision, Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C. Checks or money orders should be made payable to the Treasurer of the United States.

Try Hot Water Plus For Acute Disstress—Pain After Eating

Perhaps the greatest cause of distressing stomach upsets is excess stomach acidity.
If the thousands of unfortunate people, who suffer from so-called dyspepsia, acid indigestion, food fermentation, sour stomach, flatulence, gas or other stomach distress brought on by excess acid would drink slowly after each meal half a glass of real hot water containing one spoonful of NEUTRACID, they can usually obtain almost unbelievable relief in a very few minutes.
NEUTRACID is not a laxative—it is soothing and comforting to the mucous membranes and very agreeable to take. NEUTRACID—a physician's formula can now be obtained at J. H. Lease Drug Co. or any first class drug store.

Greatest amount of earth's surface ever covered in one exposure was in an aerial photograph taken from an Army plane at an altitude of 23,000 feet. It is estimated that 7200 square miles of terrain are actually visible in the photograph.

The War Today

Europe is another gesture of unity. It is notable that these five countries are the permanent members of the council of the United Nations peace organization formed in San Francisco and the foreign ministers will report to that organization. We have here another step towards world peace.

The five Axis nations which fought beside Hitler — Italy, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Romania—are to be given a chance to become honest members of the United Nations, after the peace treaties have been agreed upon and suitable governments have been established. The Italian treaty will come first.

So we see that the Allies are exacting just punishment but not taking revenge. That should be of interest to Japan.

Spain is barred from United Nations membership while the Franco government of General Franco is in power. That can only mean that the present Spanish regime will have to go.

Missouri is known as the "Show Me" state.

ances of Pomerania, lower and upper Silesia.

The two latter provinces, especially upper Silesia in the south, constitute one of Germany's richest industrial areas.

Thus Poland's war-spawning corridor is made over into a long and expansive coast-line.

It remains unclear whether the Poles are to get Stettin, an important port on the Oder. The commune listed as recommended Polish territory a line running "from the Baltic sea immediately west of Swinemunde, and thence along the Oder river to the confluence of the western Neisse river and along the western Neisse to the Czechoslovak frontier."

Stettin is on the west bank of the Oder.

O. K. Warsaw Government

The commune noted "with pleasure" Allied agreement on the Warsaw provisional government, after more than two years of unmentioned bickering.

Reaffirming the Yalta promise of "free and unfettered" elections in Poland, the statement also pledges that "representatives of the Allied press shall enjoy full freedom to report to the world upon developments in Poland before and during the elections."

The new western frontier resembles Polish demands as well as the general idea suggested at Yalta. At that previous Big Three meeting it was said that Poland should be compensated in the west for moving her eastern frontier to Russia's advantage.

Russia gets the long-claimed port of Koenigsberg and its environs.

None of the territorial arrangements was made definite, however. President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Generalissimo Stalin merely agreed to support them, or something like them, at the "forthcoming peace settlement."

Others wondered why there no news of possible Russian into the war against Japan, the disposition of German prisoners in Allied hands was not set out, Greece was mentioned, whether Russian troops would withdrawn from Poland.

Observing the agreements seem to formalize a Russian sphere-influence in Poland, Bulgaria, land, Hungary, Romania and eastern Austria, Taft said the Big Three understandings "in effect recognize that the Russians can do as please with the puppet Polish government."

Stalin Favored, Claim

It appears to him, Taft said, Premier Stalin "gets everything wishes to obtain and has not nitedly surrendered any position has taken in the past."

"The transfer to Poland of a fourth of Germany certainly as the seed of future war," Taft said.

"The transfer of millions Germans to an already crowded area is at best a dangerous experiment."

President Truman, the Ohio ator said, had "assumed to speak the United States in settling one of the most controversial boundaries and the terms to be imposed on Germany without any consultation with the senate or the people of the United States."

Taft added there seemed need for a peace conference, apparently all other questions to be settled in secret by the council of foreign ministers' scheduled meet in London by September.

The council will draft proposed treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

Dairy Inspections Made

MIDDLETOWN, Aug. 3. Dr. C. Neer and John Otterbein, of Butler county health department, yesterday took samples of milk from every dairy supplying an area in what Dr. Neer describes as a "surprise checkup" on producers.

Dr. Neer said similar tests made once a month by the health department, and added: "By making these checks often, and without warning, we have raised the standard of milk sold here."

Sinclairs Make It Three Over Mullins To Win Round Title

Oilers Turn In Heads-Up Game To Win 2-0 From Factory Men In 2nd Playoff

The "kids" did it again! Despite more than a week's layoff and the fact that the odds were stacked the other way, Buck Ritchie's red-hot Sinclair Oilers tucked the second round championship into their hip pockets at Centennial park yesterday 2-0 as they handed the Mullins outfit their third loss of the season before a large Class A softball crowd.

Playing heads-up ball all the way and displaying pep as only the Oilers can, the green-clad gentlemen measured Francis Lanney for five hits—three of them in the fatal fifth—and pushed across two immense appearing runs in an air-tight ball game.

The victory clinched the second round title for the Oilers and assured them of the right to enter the playoffs at the close of the season for the Salem Class A title.

League play squares away tonight with Mullins champs of the first round and the Oilers the second. The loop's six other teams are definitely out to cop a share in city honors by nabbing the third session title. Who will turn the trick this time is a bigger question mark than ever before.

Mutt Schaeffer, hurling for the greens, turned in a four hit show, only occasionally getting himself in hot water with six free passes.

Roberts defeated the Topper 9-1 in Class B play at Centennial park last night as the Youth Center chalked up a 9-4 victory over the Men About Town.

In the second contest, each team chalked up just five hits but made the runs cross the platter regardless. Walks were the word throughout the game.

The lanky loser kept the hits at a one-an-inning rate, but in the first passed a pair for his only really tight situation.

For four quick and smooth innings, however, it looked as if the long delayed battle might go on indefinitely. Only three hits were marked up in that time and no man got past the second sack. Lanney allowed but five hits and walked a single man.

In the fifth, the Oilers did the damage after two were away. Schaeffer started his own picnic with a single, which was a trifle too hot for Jimmie Appedisan to cope with at short. Lee Shaffer banged out another single to right field and Mutt scored when the play at second failed to get the hitter.

On the next pitched ball, Gale Stewart, flier, Oiler backstop, banged out a pop-double down the third base line and the second Schaeffer crossed the platter.

Mullins made a mild threat in the sixth when Walt Brian made it to first on Dave Ritchie's error and with the two away Lanney banged out a line single. Both runners advanced on a pass putting men on second and third when Vince Domencetti fouled out to Stewart to end the frame.

Play last night was highlighted by the superb pitching by Manager Ritchie at the shortstop position. He made a beautiful running catch of a long fly wanged out by First Sacker Paul Stratton in the sixth to pull Schaeffer out of a tough hole. In the seventh he pulled another breath-taking play when he grabbed Appedisan's sizzling smash over second and made the throw to first.

Eddie Bosick displayed the talent in his throwing arm from the fifth after Patsy Konnerth had walked and was on his way to third on Dave Kackner's double. Bosick laid in a perfect bounce throw to nab Konnerth as he pulled into the bag standing up.

Stewart's bang-up game behind the plate accounted for more than the usual amount of fouled-out batters and his work on low tosses saved many an added base.

Mutt Schaeffer pulled the brainsiest play of the evening when he tagged third on a near-bunt with two away in the fourth. With two men on and two out, Wally Linder's full swing sent the ball rolling down third and Schaeffer took it, dashed for third and forced Domencetti in the only possible put-out on the play. A throw to first would have been futile.

Tonight's games set the same two teams in action again. At 6 the Salem China will meet Sinclair and at 7 Mullins tees off with Demings in the battle for the third round.

INDIANS TO OPEN DRIVE FOR FIRST DIVISION TODAY

Meet St. Louis Browns In Opening Game of Set Which Is Last Hope

(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—The surging Cleveland Indians will open their drive for a first division berth in the American league tonight against the St. Louis Browns.

The Tribe powered its way back to the 500 mark and fifth place yesterday, trouncing the Chicago White Sox 13 to 7 on a 17-hit blast featured by Pat Seery's second grand slam home run of the year.

Pete Center was credited with his fifth straight victory as he delivered his second superlative relief job of the series. Center held the Sox to one hit in four innings after they solved Allie Reynolds, Jack Salveson and Ed Klemm for 14 bingles and seven runs.

Boudreau's Doubles
Cleveland won the game with an eight-run third inning opened by Pilot Lou Boudreau's double. Frankie Hayes' walk and consecutive singles by Felix Mackiewicz, Al Chihocki and Salveson netted four runs. Dutch Meyer's double and a pass to Mickey Rocco filled the bases for Seery's 10th round tripper of the year.

Boudreau's four hits in five trips led the Indians' attack. Rookie Southpaw Earl Henry of Roseville, O., was optioned to Wilkes-Barre in the eastern league on 24-hour recall. Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh reported last night.

Veteran Al Smith will oppose Tex Shirley in tonight's contest.

Branch Rickey Sure Less Night Games Sign He's Improving

By AL VERMEER

NEW YORK—If Britain wants to swing to the left that is strictly Britain's business, observes Branch Rickey, but as far as he is concerned this is the time for baseball to howl to the lines of conservatism. So speaking, the Mahatma of Brooklyn slammed the lid on further night games at Ebbets' field this season, although night games promised to bring the Dodgers more revenue than they ever before enjoyed.

Peering over his spectacles and fingering his bow tie, the Deacon of Flatbush hopes this will properly silence those people who claim music hath no greater charms than the rustle of a paper dollar to the Brooklyn front office. And he has got a point, at that. In 14 night games this summer the Dodgers averaged 25,000 attendance. In day games the average dropped to 14,000.

No one is quite certain why the Mahatma suddenly plugged this source of income, although everyone admits he didn't do it to silence the complaints of his ball players who prefer to play under the sun. Rickey may love his ferocious gentlemen, as he says he does, but not that much.

Narrows Things
This narrows the possibilities thusly.

Baseball people claim the Browns, Cardinals and Washington will eventually discourage their daytime patronage by playing unlimited night ball. The daytime trade is the real foundation of baseball, a fact Rickey may have recognized.

2. Maybe the Mahatma issued his order to clamp the swinging jaw of Larry MacPhail who claimed Rickey would play his 14 night games and then go merrily on, playing more of them. Rickey is hard pressed to see how it is any of Larry's business, yet is reluctant to hear MacPhail chant, "I told you so."

3. Or perhaps the Dodgers have reached such a high income bracket that further revenue will be swallowed by taxes, making the big crowds of night games unprofitable.

This last one is generally accepted as the plausible reason, although Rickey won't admit it.

All he says is: "Dollar, get behind me—I want thee not!"

Both Big Leagues May Fail To Have 100-Game Winner

By AL VERMEER

NEW YORK—Competition in the major leagues has become so leveled that it appears likely neither circuit will come up with a 100-game winner. Every time a club makes a move to run away from the pack, it is smacked down and hauled back into the mob.

While it is not unusual for a team to win without stacking up 100 triumphs, it is a rare season when such happens to both leagues in the same year. It has occurred only once in the past 11 campaigns, that being 1938 when the Yanks copped the American league flag with 99 victories and the Cubs emerged champions in the National with 89.

Even with 99 the Yanks breezed home easily that year, winning by 10 games as was their custom in that era. But it was different in the National. For a time Pittsburgh seemed a certain winner—so certain that the Pirates' bosses hurriedly built new seats at Forbes field to accommodate the expected World Series crowd. And thousands of lapel buttons were struck off, welcoming the nation's baseball elite to Pittsburgh.

But the Cubs came with a rush and Gabby Hartnett hammered a home run in the dusk at Wrigley field and that was the blow which cracked the Pirates' backs. It was a thrilling race which left Pittsburgh with a broken heart and the four top National league clubs within a span of six games. Also it left the Cubs blowing with exhaustion for they lost to the Yankees in four straight, causing some Pirate players to feel maybe they were better off in the safety of their homes after all.

That is the kind of race we are having again, not only in the National league but the American as well. In the former, New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Brooklyn have all made powerful passes at the flag, and now it is the turn of Chicago. In the American, the White Sox and Yankees once fought for first place, now held by Detroit, with Washington and St. Louis in pursuit.

There is only one certainty about the 1945 races—the Phils and Athletics will cling staunchly to last place right to closing day. Indeed, it is possible they will emerge as the only clubs under the .500 level, a event which would assure a gloomy winter at Philadelphia.

The all-time record for losses in one season is 117 in the National, set by Bill McKechnie's Braves 10 years ago. In the American it is 115, suffered by the Athletics in 1916. It is doubtful if either the current Phils or A's will crack those records, but you must admit they are giving it a good college try.

Athletic Monuments Is Chandler's Suggestion

NEW YORK—Senator Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, baseball's newly-elected commissioner, voiced a worthy suggestion concerning World War II monuments at a recent dinner tendered him by the three big league clubs of greater New York.

"Monuments to the heroes of World War II," Chandler said, "should not be made of brass and bronze but should be in the form of playgrounds and athletic fields for the kids of America."

"That would be a real contribution to the ideals of our heroes fought and died for," Chandler concluded.

BROWNS IN MIDST OF CHAMPIONSHIP SPIN, NOT GOOD

Last Year's Winners Do Tricks Similar To Former Champs

By AL VERMEER

NEW YORK — Someone should warn the St. Louis Browns that if they do not quickly vacate the shanty neighborhood of sixth place, they are likely to awaken one fine morning and discover themselves bracketed with the all-time flops among American League title defenders.

Only four times in league history has a pennant winner failed so dismally in defense of its crown.

Most notable of these nose dives was the collapse of Connie Mack's Athletics after their champion year of 1914. That was one of Connie's greatest teams but it chanced to bump into the Miracle Boston Braves in the World Series, losing four times in a row. Thereupon Mr. Mack dismantled his ball club and the following year it lost 100 games, plunging all the way to last place, where it remained while seven long years rolled by.

Washington suffered an almost similar drop after winning the flag in 1933. The next season the Nats tumbled to seventh, but Clark Griffith salvaged something out of this crash by selling his son-in-law manager, Joe Cronin, to Boston for a quarter million dollars. The Nats didn't look so good in the standings but sparkled handsomely in the financial book after that one.

Same As Before
The Red Sox performed an identical turnaround under Ed Barrow. After taking the title in 1918 they fell to sixth in 1919, never again to win a pennant. The White Sox made a round-trip of it when they won in 1917, dropped to sixth in 1918, then boomed right back into first place the following season as Kid Gleason took over the reins from Patsy Rowland. Those Sox were looked upon as one of the juggernauts of all time until they besmirched their memory with the Black Sox scandal.

Even the powerful Yankees have not been immune from a staggering fall. After consecutive years, Miller Huggins' 1925 club sagged to seventh, but quickly atoned for its sins by grabbing three pennants in a row. That must have been a lesson the Yanks didn't forget, for they never again have finished lower than third—over a span of 19 years!

Pennant defenders in the National League do not get caught in this embarrassing position so frequently. The Dodgers did it twice under Wilbert Robinson, winning again in 1920, then tumbling to fifth. In those days, as now, no one ever knew what a Brooklyn club had its mind to, hence few people were surprised at these amazing reversals.

Seldom Due
Only other National league club to match the Dodgers' collapse were the Cardinals. They knocked off quick championships in 1930 and 1931 but fell to sixth in 1932. So grieved were Gabby Street's bosses by this turn of events that they fired him out of the joint just before another season was over.

Somebody ought to warn the Browns that they're in danger of adding a new chapter to the history of pennant winners who flopped.

Baseball Going GI In Big Way As Discharged Vets Slowly Dominate Play

By JACK HAND,

Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball is going GI in a big way now that the manpower scale are favoring discharges over inductions with returning servicemen holding the balances of power in both major leagues.

Take yesterday's big league scores, for example. A former soldier sailor was the decisive factor in each of the six scheduled contests.

Prize showpiece is Al Benton, the ex-Tar, who has blazed a path to the top of the American league pitchers with an unofficial .089 earned run average and a 10-2 win and lost record, including five shutouts. Only Dave Ferriss of Boston among the servicemen, overshadows the Detroit star who might have been able to match the rookie's 17 victories if he hadn't missed six weeks because of an ankle fracture. Benton blanked the champion St. Louis Browns, 6-0, scattering seven hits to the Ferriss for the whitewash lead of the majors. Jack Kramer, his mound opponent, did a turn in the Seabees but that didn't save him from his fourth straight loss.

Red Ruffing, 41-year-old veteran of the New York Yankees, showed he had lost little of his pre-war cunning in stopping Boston 3-1. It was two wins in a row for the round redhead and his first complete game.

Slugfest
Out in Cleveland the Indians and Chicago White Sox held an old-fashioned slugfest, captured by the Tribe, 13-7. Pat Seery's grand slam homer in an eight-run third inning was an important factor but a neat job of relief chucking by Pete Center, an ex-GI, saved the day for Cleveland.

Washington twice shaded Philadelphia, each time by a 2-1 score, moving to within 4½ games of the top, and here again the veterans were in the foreground. Al Evans, a discharged serviceman, doubled to open a ninth-inning spurt in the opener and came home with the winning run on Pitcher Mickey Haefer's single.

Steve Gerkin, Philadelphia's luckless and winless pitcher who spent two years in the Army, outpitched Marino Pieretti in the nightcap, six hits to seven, but lost his 12th straight when the Nats scored two on two hits in the seventh.

Chicago reversed the score Wednesday's game by handing Pittsburgh a 1-0 blanking in the scheduled contest in the National league, and once again a former soldier was the hero. Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, who rejoined the Bruins this spring, doubled home Don Johnson in the sixth inning to break up a scoreless duel.

(NEA Telephoto)

WAC Sgt. Kanella Koulouvaris, above, Brooklynite now stationed in Berlin is reported to have taken first steps for an annulment of her marriage to Capt. Carl G. Schultz following discovery that the groom has a wife in Chicago. Schultz said he married Sgt. Koulouvaris in the belief his wife had been killed in a car accident.

The first American Bowling Congress was held in Chicago for prize money totaling $1,200. In 1940, at Detroit, 30,000 individuals set an all-time entry list and bowled for $250,000.
